

Happy New Year and Welcome to your Workout of the Week! This month we will focus on smaller groups within Kaiser Permanente departments who are actively taking care of their health thru fitness and exercise.

Mike Ochoa, Doctor of Physical Therapy for Home Health, will demonstrate 4 exercises he feels are essential for movement and mobility. Mike loves CrossFit and has been practicing this sport for 15 years and working out/weight lifting for over 22 years. His deep passion also extends to running and he recently participated in the California International Marathon to finish his first marathon run.

Mike also teaches a monthly exercise class for his coworkers and during class he leads total body conditioning movements and strength training exercises. His coworkers comment that they notice an increase in strength, improved mobility, and they feel their best afterwards.

Finally, he also has a YouTube channel called MOVE with Dr. Mike, on these free videos, he demonstrates how to build strength, prevent injuries, and build longevity for your body. For more information on his YouTube channel, you can subscribe here or scan the QR code with your smart phone to subscribe.

Exercise: Bodyweight Split Squat

How to perform: Place your right foot in front and keep your back toes on the ground. While keeping your spine upright, slowly bend your left knee and lower to the ground. Both knees should be at 90 degrees. Slowly straighten both knees and bring back to starting position.

Duration: Repeat for 10 repetitions on both right and left side.
